REVALUATION OF REAL ESTATE IS AGAIN PROPOSED

Farmers Oppose Plan To Increase Revenue Thru
Higher Taxes

WOULD BE RUINOUS

Residents of Coshocton are facing a second attempt to bring about a revaluation of real property. This became known Saturday when it developed that farmers in practically every section of the county are preparing to fight the move.

Revaluation means:
The change of the value of property on the tax duplicate.

It may also mean higher taxes. The object of the proposed revaluation is to increase revenue which flows into the county thru taxes.

The county commissioner, Val Fortune, R. A. McConnell, J. J. Gamertsfelder and County Auditor J. E. Lyons are generally created with being directly behind the move to bring about the revaluation.

Indications were Saturday that the move will gather form at a meeting to be held the first of this week. The commissioners, the county auditor and a number of prominent farmers are expected to take part in the meeting at which the revaluation will be discussed. Several granges and the local farm bureau, it is understood, will be represented at the meeting.

The keenest opposition to the proposed revaluation is expected to come from the farmers, who claim that they are now burdened with taxes and that a revaluation will result in higher taxes.

The view of the farmer was expressed Saturday by a Coshocton farmer when he declared, "As almost every one knows, in the present period of readjustment, the farmer has been hard hit. Many of us have been obliged to borrow money to pay their taxes. A revaluation in its final analysis, means a boost in taxes. At this time, we feel that we are unable to stand it."

From some quarters Saturday, it was suggested that pressure from state officials may have been brought to bear in this county in favor of revaluation.

In support of that view, it was (Continued On Page 10)

DAUGHTER TO GIVE NEW CUTICLE FOR MOTHER'S RECOVERY

Miss Elsie Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Turner, Orange-st., was expected to enter the City hospital Sunday morning to undergo an operation for the removal of healthy skin from her body to be grafted on the injured parts of her mother's body, which was recently burned.

As a result of an accident several days ago, Mrs. Turner was seriously burned about the lower extremities. Her condition became serious and it was necessary to remove her to the hospital for treatment.

Dr. F. M. Marshall will perform the operation. The operation is expected to be performed at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

AG. SOCIETY WILL BUILD NEW BARN AT FAIRGROUNDS

Authority to go forward with the erection of a new hog and sheep barn in the county fair grounds was given the executive committee of the Coshocton County Agricultural Society by the directors of the organization, in session Saturday.

Plans for the building will be drawn and submitted by an engineer connected with the Ohio State University extension bureau. His services will be given to the agricultural society free of charge.

It was asked by the executive committee, that G. C. Musgrove, county farm agent, L. J. Foster, president of the society and W. B. Miller secretary be named as an advisory board to consult with the executive committee relative to the plans for the new building.

The main object of the meeting Saturday, which was held in the office of W. B. Miller, South Lawn-av., was to revise the county fair premium list and to make other preparations for the 1922 fair.

Among other things, it was proposed at the meeting to have three running races, one each day of the fair, in addition to the regular trotting and pacing races. It was suggested that a purse of $200 be offered for the new race. Final decision of the proposal will probably be left to the speed department.

It was definitely decided to continue the Boy and Girl club work in all classes. In connection with this decision G. V. Croft, E. C. Darling and G. C. Musgrove were appointed as a committee to confer with L. C. Shaw, county superintendent of schools, relative to forming plans whereby county schools will make their exhibits collectively, under the name of the township in which they are located.

IS UNIMPROVED

The condition of Mrs. P. C. Green, of Dresden, who is confined to the City hospital suffering from typhoid fever, is unimproved, it was reported Saturday night.

LARGEST CLASS OF COSHOCTON HIGH TO GRADUATE IN JUNE

The largest class to be graduated from the Coshocton high school will be the class of 1922 when 101 students will receive their diplomas.

The growth of the schools is evident when it is recalled that the largest previous class consisting of 78 members, graduated in 1920.

Harold Hunt has been elected president of this class; Miss Janice Richardson vice-president and Miss Zoo Campbell secretary and treasurer. Red and white have been chosen for the class colors.

For the first time in four years, the class of '22 will publish the high school year book, the Tomahawk. Students elected to serve on that board are: Editor-in-Chief, Janice Richardson; Assistant Editors, Margaret Huff and Harold Hunt; Business Manager, Fred Timmons; Class Prophets, Nellie Lorenz, Zoe Campbell and Harold Harris; Class Historian, Dorothy Riley; Class Poet, Georgia Fennell.

No plans have been completed among the Senior girls as to their graduation gowns, but they will probably retain the simple regulation dress. Many favor the wearing of middie.

GUARD ARMORY TO BE ERECTED NEAR DRESDEN, REPORT

An Ohio National Guard armory, according to reports from Dresden, will be constructed near that town within the next few months. The contract for the building, it is understood, has already been let. The estimated cost of the proposed structure is $75,000 and that of a barn, to be built in connection with the armory, $15,000.

It is expected that the building will become the headquarters of Battery "F" 134th Field Artillery, a Dresden unit of the National Guard.

Artillery horses and equipment were being received in Dresden Saturday. Supplies to be furnished the unit, it is said, will reach in value nearly $250,000.

REVOLUTION OF MONEY SYSTEM IN GOLD MADE BY SYNTHESIS

Statistician Points Out The Far-Reaching Effects Of Possible Discovery

GERMANY IS HOPEFUL

By ROGER W. BABSON
NEW YORK, Jan. 21—"Is there any hope for Germany?"

When this question is asked, reference is made of course to the present German government. We all know that the German people are industrious, and that they will get on irrespective of what happens to their government. There is, however, great doubt as to the financial future of the German government. Germany's indebtedness is great, her money is almost valueless and her credit is nil. Owing to the fact that the other countries of Europe are likewise poor they could extend very little help to Germany even if they cared to do so. Consequently, the outlook is dark. Germany's only consolation is that if she goes by the board she will probably have company.

Chemists Are Busy.

There is one hope however, for financial Germany, a hope so very slight that there is perhaps only one chance out of a thousand, yet its consequences are so far reaching that I want this week to tell my readers of it. I refer to the possibility of discovering a way to manufacture synthetic gold. Private advices have been coming to me for some time that German chemists are diligently working to discover some method for making synthetic gold. I do not know that the German government is directly behind such experiments but indications point in that direction. The German government would of course be justified in spending a tremendous sum of money to discover a process of making synthetic gold.

Secret Is Discovered
Reports indicate that a process has already been discovered for the making of gold from quick silver, the only difficulty being that the present process costs more than the product is worth. In other words synthetic gold today is worth more than its weight (Continued on Page two)

ATTEMPT TO KILL TESTIMONY OF ONE ARBUCKLE WITNESS

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF., Jan. 21.

—Laying a foundation for attempted impeachment of the testimony of Zeh Prevon, a state witness who proved unwilling in her testimony in the second trial of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle for manslaughter, District Attorney Brady called Walter Treffs one of his official stenographers, to the witness stand today.

It was his intention to deny that his office had attempted to force Miss Prevon to change her testimony as she intimated on the witness stand.

Mrs. Kate Hardebeck, "Aunt" of Virginia Rappo, was the first witness today. She told of Virginia's leaving home Sept. 3 and identified the riding habit worn by her. She also identified photos of the dead girl.

DRY AGENTS HAVE BIG QUANTITY OF WHISKY STOLEN

BALTIMORE, MD., Jan. 21.—Thief of sixty barrels of Stewart distillery whiskey valued at about $100,000 from the service terminal company's warehouse, almost in the heart of the city, where it had been stored by the local prohibition authorities following its seizure, became known this afternoon when it was learned special agents of the United States service and prohibition enforcement bureau are working on the case.

The robbery, previously hinted at but carefully concealed by Prohibition Director Budnitz was apparently one of the boldest liquor robberies of the many "pulled off" in Baltimore.

Some of the agents familiar with the case say that apparently there was collusion with some one who had access to the warehouse. They say the lock had been changed on the door of the room where the whiskey was stored and that it was necessary for the agents to break down the door when they went to inspect the liquor. Prohibition Director Budnitz made every effort to keep secret news of the robbery believing it would aid in running down the thieves and recovering the whiskey.

RAILWAY EXECUTIVES DISCUSS RELATIONS WITH THE EMPLOYEES

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.— Ways and means of bringing about closer and more peaceful relations between the railroads and their employees were the main topic of discussion at the meeting of the American Railway Executives Association which convened here today.

After a series of conferences with Secretary of Commerce Hoover, in which the railroad situation was thoroughly thrashed out, the executives have come together to see if it is possible to evolve some concrete plan of action. It is especially desired to cut down the constant litigation between the roads and the U. S. Railway Labor Board which is held to be conducive to relations between the roads and their employees.

"There is a desire on the part of the railroads to obtain closer relations," said Robert Binkert, secretary of the association.

"No industry in constant litigation is likely to reach a state of peaceful prosperity. The way out is to get together."

ENTRIES POUR IN FOR POULTRY AND CORN EXHIBITION

Entries for the Corn and Poultry Show to be held at West Lafayette, on Friday and Saturday, January 27 and 28, are rapidly coming in each day. A large number of entries are expected to be made all this week. Entries may be made up until Friday morning at 10 o'clock, at which time the exhibits should be in and ready to be submitted to the judges.

The exhibit of corn consists of 10 ears of any variety and of poultry five or three birds or single birds. The possibility of making the poultry show an annual affair is being considered by the West Lafayette Agricultural Society.

The society believes that a winter fair of this type coming as it does when people are more or less at their leisure because of the slack season in farm work, should fill in for entertainment, pleasure and profit to all. The society claims it fosters better care of poultry and gives an opportunity to study breeds and compare them thru the eyes of an impartial judge.

By EUGENE J. YOUNG

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—Imperial statesmen could not even wait for the Washington conference to end and for the echoes of their peace speeches to die out before renewing their quarrels. With the treaties for partial disarmament still uncompleted, we are being treated to another crisis between the world's greatest empires, Britain and France. Each calling on the world to witness the extreme purity and unselfishness of its motives, they are renewing that bitter struggle for power in Europe and the Near East which has brot them close to conflict time after time since the World war.

Americans are being besought to take sides in this quarrelling. Powerful propaganda agencies are being brot to bear on us to sway our emotions one way or the other. But it is no time for us to take sides. It is a time to keep cool. We should remember we got all stirred up during the Paris peace conference about things we did not then fully understand and in the succeeding presidential election we regretted our enthusiasm to the tune of a 7,000,000 majority.

Swayed to British Side

I give this warning, because there is no doubt American sentiment has been strongly affected as against France by the marvellous diplomatic and propaganda offensive which the British have been carrying on in Washington and from London ever since the Arms Conference began. We have been induced to feel that France is aggressively militaristic because she keeps an army that overawes the Continent of Europe; and to forget that Britain is at the same time insisting on keeping a fleet that shall be strong enough to dominate all the waters of Europe and make the Mediterranean in fact a British lake.

We have been induced to think of France as a mischief maker because she stands pat on the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles and insists on getting the reparations and securities promised her; and to look upon Britain as a peace-maker because, after having absorbed great territories, taken the most of the German merchant and river fleet and received other large benefits, she is now ready to call the Versailles Treaty another "scrap of paper."

CAMPAIGN OF 1840 MOST REMARKABLE IN OHIO POLITICS

Intervening Years Have Not Served To Abate Wonder At Enthusiasm

Eighty years ago, the people of Ohio passed through a political campaign that in many respects was so remarkable that the intervening years have hardly served to abate the wonder of it. Starting in the month of February with a whirl and a roar, it gathered headway until it became a marching crusade of wild enthusiasm long before election day in November. The Democratic party had been in power without interruption, for forty years. President Van Buren, the successor and political heir of President Andrew Jackson, had been renominated by his party for a second term. The opposition party, the Whigs, held their national convention at Harrisburg, Pa., in December, 1839, and nominated for president General William Henry Harrison, of Ohio, over Henry Clay, his leading opponent. At the time of his nomination, the Whig candidate was living quietly on his little farm at North Bend, a few miles below Cincinnati, on the Ohio river, and was sixty-seven years of age. His career had been a notable one. Son of a governor of Virginia and signer of the Declaration of Independence, he entered the army at the age of nineteen. He was rapidly promoted and acted with bravery and distinction as aide-de-camp to General Anthony Wayne in the campaign against the Indians, which ended in the battle of Fallen Timbers, on the 10th of August, 1794, and which gave peace to an exposed line of frontier from Indian depredations, extending from Pittsburgh to the southern borders of Tennessee. It was in reality the closing battle of the Revolutionary war, for the Indians in alliance with England never laid down their arms until they were vanquished by Wayne in that campaign. Harrison was governor of the territory of Indiana and in command of the troops at the celebrated battle of Tippecanoe, on the banks of the Wabash in November, 1811, in which the savages were overwhelmingly defeated. It was the opening battle of the war of 1812. A few months later he was promoted to the rank of major general and placed in command of all the troops in the Northwest, and on the 5th of October, 1813, after Perry's victory had cleared the way, administered a crushing defeat to the British army and the Indians at the battle of the Thames. Later he served in con-

MILLERSBURG'S BIG FIRST HALF LEAD PULLS HER ACROSS

After exerting all efforts to win in the last half of the game, making 21 points to their opponents' 10, the Coshocton III basketballs were forced to defeat by one point by the Millersburg III at Central gym Friday night. The final score was 26 to 25.

The Millersburg boys were doing wonders with the ball in the first half. They made 16 points and held Coshocton to a quartet of counters at the end of the first half. The Coshocton quintet was going like a whirlwind in the opening frame, but failed to locate the position of the basket when they had the ball.

The local lads found themselves in the last chapter. Rallying under the high school yells given by the local fans from the bleachers, the Coshocton boys braced up and took possession of the floor. Hunt at center was at his best and ably assisted by Bowen played phenomenal basketball. The local tossers were "raining" baskets from all angles of the floor in the last few minutes of play before they were checked. Up until the close of the game it looked to the fans as the Coshocton would gain enough strength to win.

The clever basket shooting of Claud Day was largely responsible for Coshocton's defeat. Day alone made 16 of Millersburg's 26 points.

ROSCOE LADS WIN IN EXTRA PERIOD ON WARSAW FLOOR

It took five minutes in addition to the regular time to decide a game at Warsaw Friday night, which finally ended in favor of the Roscoe Juniors over the Warsaw Boy Scouts. The final score was 30 to 28.

At the close of the game the score stood 25 to 25. Roscoe made 5 more points and Warsaw scored 3 points in the extra five minutes of play.

Warsaw proved to be a slightly speedier in the first half than the Roscoe lads. It needed 16 to 8 in favor of Warsaw. At the beginning of the second half, the Roscoe boys' team work was superior to the home team's.

Huff secured the most of Roscoe's points, while Raymond Clark was the scoring machine for Warsaw.

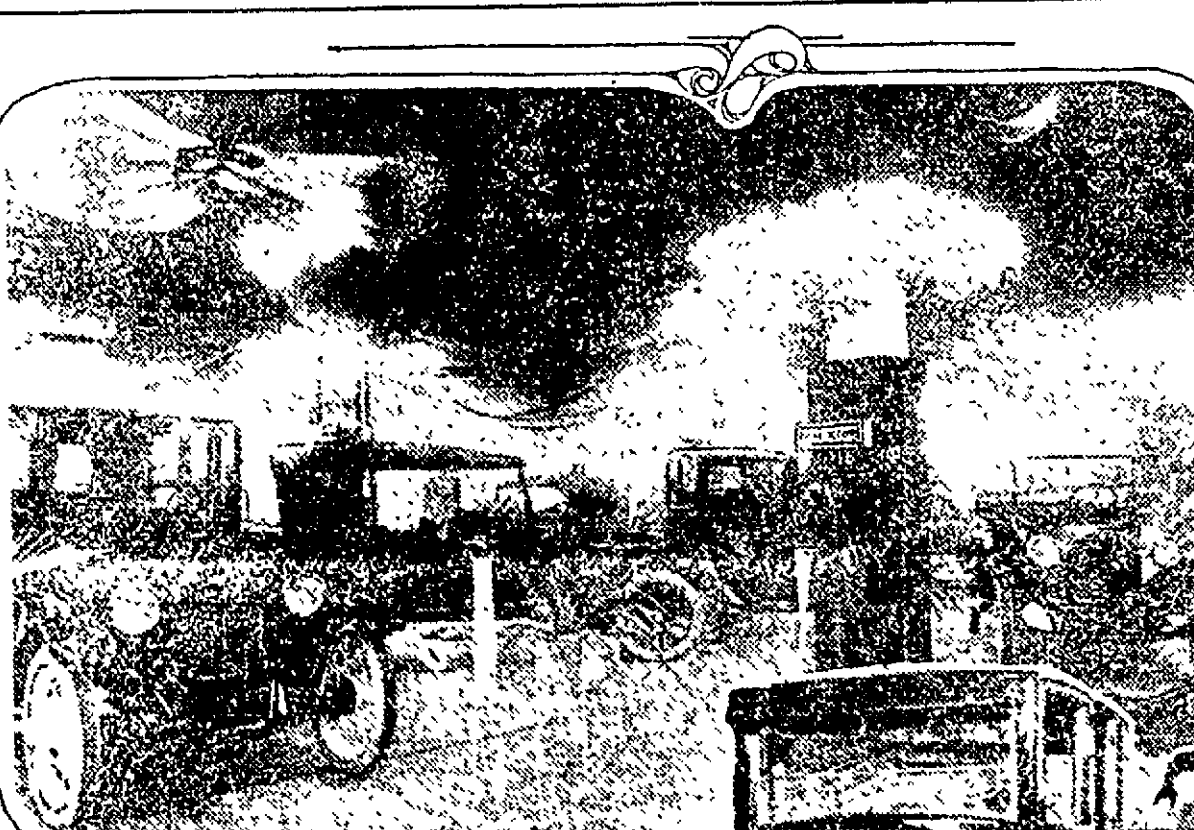

This is the second time this season that Warsaw has been beaten by this Roscoe team.

MOTOR ENTHUSIASTS OF STATE SEE BIG CLEVELAND SHOW

A GLIMPSE OF THE SHOW

Half a dozen new cars never before shown in Ohio are displayed at the Cleveland automobile show, which runs from January 21 to 28. The exhibition as a whole includes more than 200 cars of 75 different makes. There are two accessory departments where a multiplicity of devices for increased safety, comfort and convenience are displayed, many of them in actual operation.

Three orchestras, including a marmosa band, give concerts every afternoon and evening, and the three sections of the Wignore coliseum are embellished with elaborate decorative spectacles.

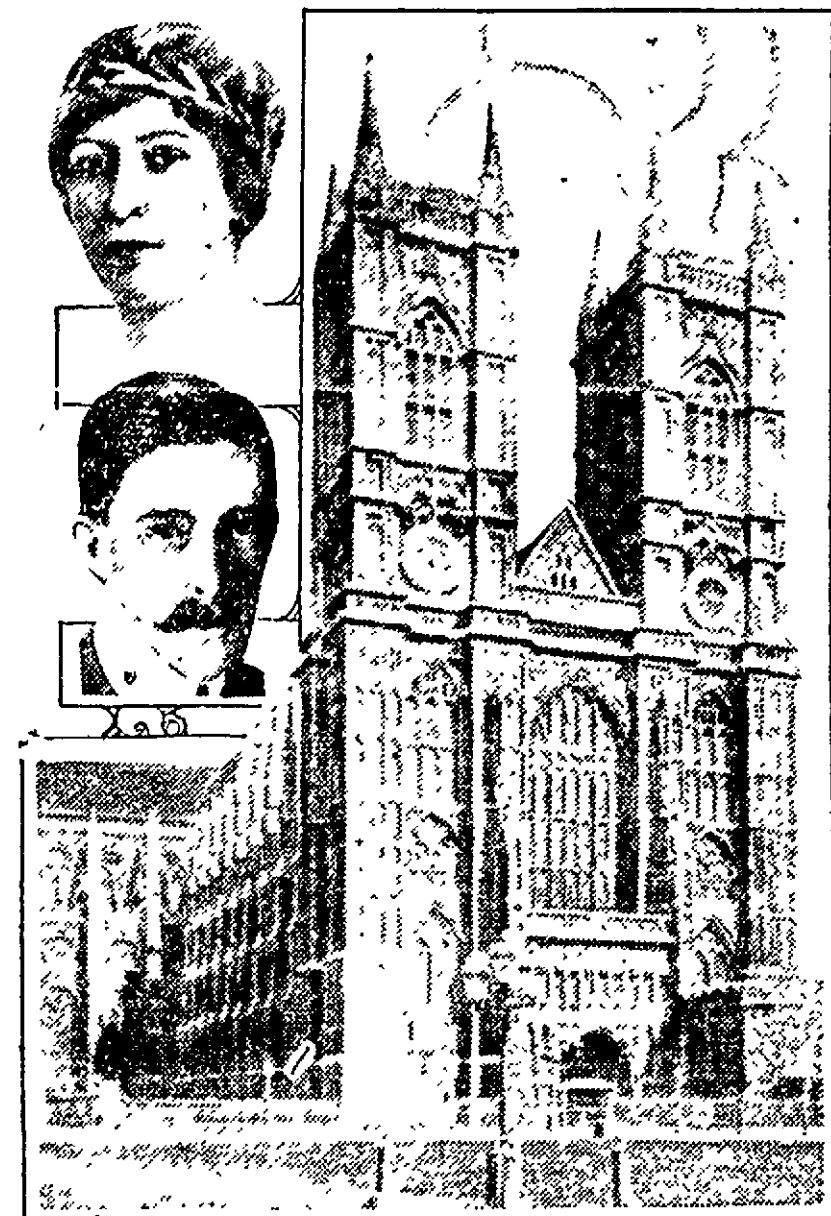

Automobile tradesmen and motor enthusiasts come from all over Ohio to participate in different of the special events which have been arranged for show week, including a trade rally Monday noon and a merchandising meeting Wednesday under auspices of the Automotive Equipment association, with a program in charge of President Howard

M. Dine, Canton, State Vice President S. W. Hanna, Columbus, and Ray W. Sherman, Chicago.

"The automobile industry in Ohio is stepping on the accelerator," says Fred H. Caley, manager of the show. "Ohio is the premier automobile state in the union, and we excel not alone in the manufacture of cars, parts and tires, but in the efficient use and enjoyment of the motor vehicle. This is amply borne out by statistics, and the annual show is intended to give adequate presentation of this industry to the people of the state."

KU KLUX WORKERS BUSY RECRUITING NATIVE BORN MEN

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 21.—Despite repeated denials that organization work for the Ku Klux Klan was being done in Milwaukee and despite the fact that the national leaders of the Klan have been investigated by the government and the public practically assured that the organization was wiped out, its secret agents are at work in Milwaukee trying to enroll new members, according to the Milwaukee Leader.

This was developed thru a membership soliciting letter, sent out by Klan agents.

The Klan's leaflets are again working under cover, sending out veiled literature setting forth the supposed virtues of the organization, and again appealing to race hatred against Jews and Catholics, the circular letter, enclosing unsigned literature for private consumption, and urging the recipient to correspond with "T. H. Tim" at post-office box 1169, for further information, reveals.

"Real men whose oaths are inviolate are needed," is the slogan on part of the literature. On "native born

American citizens are asked to enter the folds of the invisible empire. The circular letter reads as follows:

"Dear Brother:

"In the past several months we have heard much concerning an organization which apparently does not meet the sanction or approval of the press of our nation, which is owned or controlled to the extent of 87 per cent by Jews and Catholics.

"The enclosed literature is sent you upon the request of your friends that you may judge for yourself why all this opposition, the 'why' of rumors as to disintegration, bankruptcy, banditry, vandalism and general lawlessness.

"The resentment shown by the press and certain classes in fraternal associations is perfectly natural and only goes to prove more conclusively the need of a real 100 per cent American organization standing for 'liberty of conscience, equality before the law' and the genuine 'fraternity among men.'

"No one in this organization, or those eligible for membership, would countenance an 'invisible, intolerant and irresponsible autocracy within our commonwealth' because it would be in direct violation of the constitution of the United States, also we have organizations in our country upholding just such principles.

"As a Mason, K. of P., Odd Fellow or Elk, you do not believe in 'appeals to radicalism and endeavors to foster hatred of nationalities, classes, religious faiths or sects,' but you do believe in the 'promotion of and enforcement of an orderly administration of justice and equity, acting openly that it may be known of all men' and as an associate of the knights of the Ku Klux Klan you are bound by stronger ties to fulfill just beliefs, your duties to your country, your family, your fellowmen and yourself, never, however, acting in opposition to your convictions.

"If you are a 'native born' American citizen, having the best interest of your community, city, state and nation at heart and believe in viz.:

"1. The Tenets of the Christian religion.

"2. The flag and constitution of the United States.

"3. The chastity of womanhood and the sanctity of the home.

"4. The separation of church and state.

"5. Law and order.

"6. White supremacy.

"Then your manhood should persuade you to know more concerning the Light of the Flery Cross.

"Your time and effort in reading the enclosed literature and sending in the enclosed card will be well spent, I'll assure you.

"Fraternalty yours for the best interests of our beloved nation,

"NON SILVA SED ANTHRA."

"(Not for self but for others.)"

A return card, dated on the day of sending, numbered so that the organization may know that it is being returned by the person to whom it was originally sent, and asking that the recipient fill it out with his name, occupation and address, is enclosed with the letter and is in such form that it must be sent back in an envelope. Its concluding paragraph reads:

"Upon these beliefs and the recommendation of your friends you are given an opportunity to become a member of the most powerful secret nonpolitical organization in existence, one that was 'here yesterday,' 'here today,' 'here forever.'"

The reader of the card is cautioned to discuss it with no one, and the card has a slogan, "Duty without fear and without reproach."

SEAMEN'S UNION PRAISES KANSAS MINERS AND SEN. ROBT. LAFOLLETTE

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Resolutions congratulating the Kansas miners upon "their patriotism and the fortitude they display in their present sufferings" were unanimously adopted at the fifty delegates in attendance at the twenty-fifth annual convention of the International Seamen's Union of America, which is in session here.

The Seamen also pledged themselves to render all possible aid to Robert M. La Follette in his campaign for re-election and called upon the common people, the workers, the burden bearers and all real friends of human freedom and American institutions everywhere to do their utmost to the end that La Follette may be triumphantly returned to the Senate.

A resolution offered by delegates of the Marine Firemen's Union of the Atlantic and Gulf demanding that the Seamen withdraw from the A. F. of L. on the ground that affiliation is of no benefit was unanimously voted down. The convention also turned down a resolution of the Eastern and Gulf Sailors' Association proposing a referendum on amalgamation of the different departments in the different districts into one district union for each district. Economy and greater effectiveness in resisting the employers was offered as a reason for the proposed change.

The annual report of President Andrew Furuseth stressed the difficulties of the administration during the last year "first in the fight against United States Shipping interests, secondly in the struggle against their allies, the I. W. W., who from every fact obtainable seem to be doing the work of the Third International on the one hand and of the International Shipping Federation, Ltd., on the other."

Furuseth declared the I. W. W. "who ostensibly do not believe in the law, brot the regular officers of the Atlantic and Gulf Sailors into court three times in their efforts to seize upon the organization. They did not succeed with that organization nor with the firemen and they have failed utterly with the sailors and firemen of the Pacific."

The report of Secretary Treasurer, T. A. Hanson shows a membership of 50,000 as against 115,000 in 1920 and 75,000 in 1919. Hanson points out that it has cost the union $40,000 to defend the Seamen's act during the past four years. Less was spent in nine years campaigning for legislation beneficial to seamen, he reports.

The Seamen view the Kansas situation thus: "Under the group servitude we are approaching a condition where in a miner may quit work, but a group of miners must not; where a farmer may cease producing, but a group of farmers must not; where the dairyman may cease producing, but a group of dairymen must not; where a lawyer may cease, but a group of lawyers must not; all this with the evident idea that the group is a separate entity not made up of individuals."

After congratulating the Kansas miners on their stand the resolution says: "We further congratulate Alexander Howat and others now suffering incarceration in order that other workers may possibly escape a similar ordeal, and we thank them all in the name of men who have so lately been unshackled that we have not forgotten what freedom means and are therefore cognizant of its value."

In gold. Consequently it cannot be used as a substitute for gold. If, however it is demonstrated that lead is made from the same base as gold and that the difference lies only in the arrangement of the atoms, which arrangement it is possible to change, then gold can be made from lead as well as aniline dyes can be made from coal tar.

Effect on Contracts
If any such process is discovered the havoc it would create is apparent. The discovery would of course first be treated very secretly, and a tremendous amount of gold would be made and coined before anyone learned about it. This gold would be used by Germany partly for paying off its reparations debts, partly for purchasing raw materials, and partly for the relieving of the difficulties of its own people. Even however after the discovery became known little or nothing could be done about it? Gold is gold, and that's all there is to it. An international conference would doubtless be immediately called and the stabilized commodity dollar—as so strongly recommended by Professor Irving Fisher of Yale University would, as soon as possible, be substituted in its stead. All new contracts would be based on this commodity dollar. But what would happen to the old contracts? Is there anything to prevent people from paying off their present debts with gold dollars?

Would Affect Everyone
Jeanette, as governments work so slowly, a great change would take place in the security markets of the world. Almost everyone would be affected in some way or other.

The holders of bonds and other forms of indebtedness would have their securities paid off in depreciated gold. Gold for industrial purposes is not as good a metal as iron, copper or lead. Since the value of gold today consists almost wholly in its rarity. With this rarity destroyed it would sink to a very low figure. This means that those who are loaners of money and who have had money invested almost wholly in bonds and notes, would suffer serious losses. This does not apply to banks. Banks would receive this synthetic gold in payment for their securities and loans, but they would use the same synthetic gold to pay off their depositors. Therefore the bank, like the commission merchant, would neither gain nor lose by the discovery.

Owners Would Profit
The great benefit would come to those who own land, forests, mines, water powers and industries in general. Stocks would have a tremendous boom, the greatest boom in history. In short, the creditor, the man who loans would suffer tremendously, but the operator, the man who owns natural resources or shares in active business, would greatly prosper.

Scatters Investments
There is only one chance in a thousand, perhaps one in ten thousand, of any such discovery being made. It is, however, of such importance that every one should insure a little against it and not put all of its money into bonds. Purchase a certain amount of land, have a portion of your funds in mines, forests, water powers and other natural resources. Be in a position so that if such a discovery is made you would profit thereby. A part of the extent that you would not suffer great loss.

The Babsonchart
What would happen to the Babsonchart if such a discovery were made? As the chart is based on the fundamental law of action reaction nothing would happen. No, altho the discovery of synthetic gold would revolutionize finance, it would not make two blades of grass grow where one grew before, synthetic gold would simply shift the control of the world to a different group of people, taking it from the loaners of money and giving it to the owners of the world's raw materials and industries.

General business has settled down for its mid-winter dullness. The Babsonchart index shows it running 18 percent below normal. No change from last week.

Building to Boom
Early in the spring I look for pronounced activity in building lines, the influence of which will be felt thru the whole business structure.

FRANCE AND GREAT

meal—is sadly in need of time for indigestion. He needs ten, or twenty years.

On the other hand, France so far has got little to compensate her for her tremendous losses and sufferings in the war. Continuing the simile of the jungle, she is a hungry tigress who has envied the heavy meal of the lion and is trying to snatch a good gorge for herself. But whatever gains she tries to bring down she finds the lion growling menacingly. Even where there is a division of game she feels that the lion is not half fair to her.

For instance; it was agreed that in consideration of the benefits Britain has already gained, France was to have the larger percentage of the reparations still to be paid. The German river fleet was sized and divided. Britain took her share of that, sold it to her own nationals at prices far below the market value, and then insisted that the amount thus obtained and not the market values, should be charged against her percentage of the payments to come.

Forced Issue at Washington
What the British did at Washington deepened the feeling of antagonism and really brot about the crisis of Canines and the downfall of Briand as French premier. While Mr. Balfour and his delegation spoke softly and kept themselves in the background as much as possible, they nevertheless promoted a very aggressive and powerful diplomatic offensive. They sought three things:

(1) Certainty that the American fleet was not to be made superior to their own. This they achieved.

(2) Absolute control of European

FARMER JACK BURNS
Farmer Burns, Springfield, O., is scheduled to meet "Battling" Mamont, Canton, O., in a wrestling bout in this city at the Sixth Street Theatre on January 25.

He comes highly recommended as a mat artist and it is expected that the fray will prove to be one of the best ever staged here.

It is being held under the auspices of the Ralph Courtwright Post No. 65, American Legion.

Burns' opponent, Mamont, also enjoys an excellent reputation as a wrestler.

The bout will be staged as a two-out-of-three affair, the winner to take the net proceeds.

Both wrestlers are in the heavyweight division. Burns weighing 185 and Mamont, 204.

Several good preliminaries will also be staged.

waters by having ratios so fixed that the British navy would be more powerful than any two rivals. This they achieved in all but submarines.

(3) A close union of the English-speaking nations which should take in the United States as a guarantor of the Empire and as a partner of Britain in reorganizing Europe on her own lines.

The first point having been conceded at the outset by Mr. Hughes the whole force of propaganda was bent against France, in order to knock down the traditional friendship between that country and ours and turn our minds towards Briand's ends. It was for this reason that so much stress was laid on the great French army and on the aggressive designs of France in her submarine program.

DELAY OF JAPAN
AT CONFERENCE IS IRRITATING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—The Japanese policy of delay in the arms conference is beginning to irritate the other delegations as well as the United States senate.

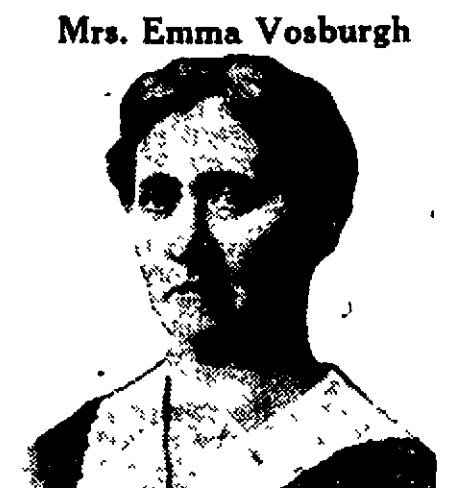

A review today of the conference status revealed that at every turn, the Japanese are holding up decisions and the lack of progress particularly this week, is beginning to chafe the other powers.

Japan's insistence of joint control of the Shantung railroad is blocking all progress in this direction.

Japan is preventing final action on the fortifications program. In the far east committee proper, Japan's objection to filing the list of treaties and agreements on Chinese matters has so far prevented the adoption of the "cards on the table" resolution, under which all the powers, except Japan, agreed to make known their Chinese commitments. The committee tackled this job again today, with hopes that Japan would withdraw her opposition.

The cost of the conference is beginning to trouble some of the delegations. In this connection, it was learned today that the question of who is to bear the expense of the Washington meeting and of the future conferences which have been agreed on, was recently brot up by the French in a committee meeting.

The French inquired how the expenses were to be met. They were informed that while there had been no definite agreement on this point, the prevailing idea was that each delegation should bear the fair share of the cost. The French then put forward a tentative suggestion that if such was to be the case the amounts expended should be deducted from war debt. In other words, the United States would bear the entire cost of this and future meetings.

CURED HIS RHEUMATISM!

"I am eighty-three years old and I doctored for rheumatism ever since I came out of the army, over 50 years ago. Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called 'cures' and I have read about 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without pain; my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day with comfort. Friends are surprised at the change. You might just as well attempt to put out a fire with oil as try to get rid of rheumatism, neuritis and like complaints by taking treatment supposed to drive Uric Acid out of your blood and body. It took Mr. Ashel, man fifty years to find out the truth. He learned how to get rid of the true cause of his rheumatism, other disorders and recover his strength from 'The Inner Mysterles,' now being distributed free by an authority who devoted over twenty years to the scientific study of this trouble. If any reader of The Tribune and Times Age wishes 'The Inner Mysterles' of rheumatism' overlooked by doctors and rheumatists for centuries past, simply send a post card or letter to H. P. PLANS FOR CREATION OF PRESIDENT'S FOREST ANNOUNCED

The pass in the forest between V-T park and Pleasant valley in the proposed President's forest; an interesting photo of the late Theodore Roosevelt chopping wood in the proposed forest in 1913, and map of Arizona showing (in black) the location and extent of the proposed project.

Plans for the creation of the President's forest have been announced by Stephen T. Mather, director of the National Park Service. Three hundred thousand acres of Kaibab forest, a national forest reserve north of the Grand Canyon in Arizona, are to be made into a public park. The Kaibab forest was made a game preserve by President Roosevelt during his administration.

Ford's Own Pet Ford Joke
"The thing that was holding the car of Detroit," said Mr. Babson, was the air-cooled motor question. Air cooling, altho noisy, is cheaper. It burns less gasoline. But it seems that the automobile manufacturers by a general agreement have stuck to water cooling, all except the Franklin people.

"Now the General Motors Company plans air-cooled engines. The other firms will probably follow suit. It will mean the scrapping of an enormous amount of machinery.

"I asked Mr. Ford if he was going to have his products air cooled? Not just yet, he returned. "You see I have made one change on my radiator already. Haven't you noticed that the new cars are less noisy?"

"I confessed I hadn't and asked him why.

"I've taken the brass band off them," he grinned.

Even the loving father jokes about his child.

Wool of Australia.
The great superiority of Australian wool is supposed to be due mainly to climatic conditions; but no little credit is also due to the grasses and herbage upon which the sheep feed. The native grasses of Australia are looked upon as superior for pasture to exotic grasses; experience has inclined the opinion that way. They possess greater reproductive powers, and there is very little necessity for reseeding.

Modest Open Sleeve Curbs Frankness Of Evening Gown

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

IF modesty forbids acceptance of the sleeveless mode in evening gowns, perhaps with a little coaxing will come the conviction that the grace and winsomeness of an abbreviated type of sleeve, such as this model takes pride in, is sufficient excuse for its deficiency in performing a sleeve's real mission—that of covering the arm.

In this evening gown a very plain foundation of crepe satin in rapid, a medium-greenish shade of blue, loses every vestige of its severity by the overdrapery of softly gathered and bloused waist panels and a front apron effect of cream lace of cobwebby texture.

From the blue jeweled girdle that encircles the loose waist line, pendants are suspended at each side back, thus providing interest to what might otherwise prove a very ordinary effect in the back. The beads that form the Bateau neck line and secure the upper and lower edges of the sleeves are of a tone that matches the skirt.

which took place Saturday, November 27, in Covington Kentucky.

The marriage was performed in a Methodist Episcopal parsonage, by the Rev. Mr. Lose, an old friend of the families.

The bride is an especially accomplished and attractive young lady. She was graduated from Ohio State University with the class of 1921 and has been engaged as supervisor of music in the Coshocton Public schools since September.

Mr. Ross is also a graduate of Ohio State and is taking post graduate work in the medical department of the university at the present time.

Mrs. Ross left Saturday for Columbus to join her husband where they will be at home to their friends.

"A CHILD FOR SALE"

AGE—FOUR YEARS.

PARENTAGE—LEGITIMATE.

HEALTH—EXCELLENT.

DISPOSITION—CHARMING.

REASON FOR SELLING—"HIGH COST OF LIVING."

For further particulars, inquire at The Pastime Theatre.

The advertisement that appeared in several newspapers a short time ago, announcing a child for sale has created quite a furore thruout the country, and especially in New York City. As a matter of fact so much attention was given the advertisement that it moved Arthur Brisbane—worlds highest salaried Editorial writer—to pen his opinion, in which he condemned the various causes and reasons that in these days of high prices justify a parent in selling a child to provide the dire necessities of life.

Interference with the nerve supply is the CAUSE for nearly all stomach trouble. This being the case—as proven in the vast number of cases getting well under Chiropactic Adjustments which removes the CAUSE. This pressure acts precisely the same as cutting the wire between the dynamo and the machine which is run by electric motive power. Remove the pressure and NATURE'S forces will cause the stomach to work properly.

A Land Fit For Heroes

It was Lloyd George who said that at the end of the war the soldiers would return to a "land fit for heroes." The latter have received a number of installments on this promise and more of them are coming.

One of the latest is a reduction of 20,000,000 pounds on public education, a reduction which will seriously cripple the schools from the nursery to the university. While the Geddes committee is expected to make this recommendation the British workers have the pleasant announcement that two new warships at a cost of 22,000,000 pounds are to be built. In other words, British children are to be sacrificed and the money saved on education is to go to preserve the overseas loot of British imperialists.

Another item in making a "land fit for heroes" is the reduction of wages of the workers in rural England and their consequent degradation to a lower level of life. The London Nation devotes a leader to this under the caption of "The Tragedy of Rural England." It looks forward to the decline of agriculture, a renewal of the drift of the rural workers to the cities, and an intensification of the competition between the workers in the industrial centers. The result will be the dragging down of the living conditions of the workers of England to lower levels.

"How quickly statesmen and politicians have forgotten the truths which the necessities of war revealed—the perils inherent in a decaying countryside and in an ill-fed, badly housed, and declining rural population," writes the Nation. They have. But the British masses have glorious promises to remember, even as we have in the United States.

Louisiana Justice

LAST week an incident occurred in Louisiana which ought to humiliate every American loyal to his country. Harold O. Mulks, a Chicago lawyer, went to Shreveport, La., to defend three men who had previously been found guilty of a petty offense. He was threatened with violence if he defended his clients. He went for protection to the mayor of the city, who denied that any danger existed. On Friday night the lawyer was seized in the lobby of a hotel by armed men, kidnapped, beaten, and finally put upon a train with orders not to return to the town.

If an injury such as that were committed in Mexico against an American it would be regarded by many as a cause of war. If it were reported from Russia it could be heralded as proof of the barbarity of the Bolshevik regime. What are Americans to think when their own fellow citizens are guilty of such an outrage? John M. Parker, the governor of Louisiana, has been a distinguished citizen. Governor Parker was one of the leaders in that ill-fated Progressive party whose banner bore the words "Social Justice." What can he say of Louisiana justice as it is administered at Shreveport? What does he intend to do about righting such a wrong?

In explanation of the crime committed against Mr. Mulks, it is observed that his clients were members of the I. W. W. That may be true and it may not. In the same district members of the American Federation of Labor were a little while ago shot down in cold blood by those who opposed the unionization of lumber company employees. It may be that the men convicted of vagrancy—evidence shows that they were actually employed at the time of their conviction—were members of the I. W. W., and, on the other hand, they may merely have been unionists. But that is irrelevant.

It is the pride of America that every man, innocent or guilty, has his day in court. One may assume for the sake of argument that the men whom Mr. Mulks was commissioned to defend were members of the I. W. W. and that they were also vagrants. They were still entitled to all the guarantees of a fair trial which is the right of the most heinous offenders known to the law. It is abominable that their counsel should have been himself the victim of a criminal conspiracy and of mob violence.

The south, which has in other years been sensitive concerning its honor, should not allow its integrity to be challenged by its own people. That is just what the Shreveport hoodlums have done.

Mr. Beck On The Mooney Case

JAMES M. BECK holds the important post of solicitor general of the United States. He is also much interested in the case of Thomas Mooney, which attracted so much attention five years ago when it was shown that Mooney had been convicted of the Preparedness Day murders in San Francisco on discredited testimony. In a letter to Felix Frankfurter, who was chairman of the presidential commission which investigated the case in 1918, Mr. Beck asserted that "twelve jurymen, a trial judge, a supreme court, and a governor of a state alike concurred" in belief in Mooney's guilt.

Mr. Frankfurter has replied to this and a subsequent letter, and the correspondence is published by the New Republic. Perhaps the facts as to the guilt or innocence of Mooney are no longer of public interest, although they are of considerable importance to Mooney and to the system of justice which is reproached by his continued imprisonment and by the persistent refusal to give him a new trial. But Mr. Beck's methods are of great importance to every one so long as he holds a high public office. Mr. Frankfurter is able to prove, beyond all quibbling, that the Beck charges are incredibly false in almost every particular.

Mooney's conviction was not upheld by "twelve jurymen, a trial judge, a supreme court, and a governor of a state." On the contrary, several of the jurymen who voted to convict later declared that they would not have done so had they known of the Oxman letters; the trial judge, Judge Griffin, stated that he would have granted the motion for a new trial had the Oxman letters been before him; the state supreme court specifically refused to pass judgment on the new evidence because it felt itself legally incompetent to deal with it, and Governor Stephens, in commuting Mooney's sentence, declared that he so acted "because of this new evidence."

There are other inaccuracies in Mr. Beck's statement which are dealt with fully in Mr. Frankfurter's reply and which are still further illuminated by the documentary records of the case. The fact may be, as Mr. Frankfurter charitably suggests, that Mr. Beck had his letter documented by a subordinate and was not personally guilty of misrepresentation and suppression of facts. But what is to be that of a federal solicitor general who lets his name be attached to such a conglomeration of falsehoods bearing on a case in whose outcome the fundamentals of American justice are involved?

If this is a fair sample of Mr. Beck's legal activities, little reliance can be placed in anything he does, in or out of office, and the sooner he is out of office the better.

NELSONVILLE, Jan. 21—With the passing of the court of Squire Sines in York township comes to a close a chapter of remarkable activity against bootleggers, not only in Athens county, but in parts of Hocking and Perry counties. In the past few months, Squire Sines and his deputies turned up dozens of cases of bootlegging, destroyed scores of stills and collected many thousands of dollars in fines.

The commission of Mr. Sines ended last week and he was not reappointed by the York trustees. The Nelsonville police court has promised to take over the work conducted by Squire Sines and to keep the district free of "stillers."

ATHENS, Jan. 21—Hundreds of miners in the Buchtel-Murray City New Straitsville district are being given work by the state highway department. In the past two weeks, between 165 and 175 men have had work in three-day shifts on the construction gangs working between Nelsonville and Murray City. Wages amounting to about $22,500 have been paid to these men.

The gangs are working three days at a time and then other men are given a chance to earn something to keep the wolf from the door. Hundreds of miners in this district have had almost no work at all for the past six months and their families are suffering.

DEFIANCE, Jan. 21—Arraigned before Justice Kelley on a charge of illegally keeping his children out of school, William Koebel pleaded not guilty. He said the driver of the school bus refused to stop for his children on the mornings they were absent. The case was continued for trial.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 21—Opposition to a state constabulary and to changes in the present system of licensing threshing machinery, or operating and regulating cleats on tractor wheels, is voiced in resolutions adopted at the annual meeting of the Ohio Brotherhood of Threshermen at the Southern hotel here. The delegates, also, claiming present high freight rates exorbitant, urged prompt reduction in the cost of transportation, and declared themselves 100 per cent American in principle.

COMMUNIST PARTY COUNSELS FORCE IS JUDGE'S DECISION

BOSTON, Jan. 21—The famous decision of Federal Judge George W. Anderson in the Colyer case in 1920 finding that the Communist Party of America was not a force-and-violence organization has been reversed by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for this district. That tribunal now finds that the Communist Party does advocate the overthrow of the present government by force and violence.

Accordingly, the Appellate Court orders that the four defendants involved be turned over to the immigration commissioner here for deportation. These defendants are William Colyer and his wife, Amy; Frank Mack and Lew Bondar. The Colyers and Mack are British subjects, while Bondar is a Russian.

Appeal to the United States Supreme Court will be taken by the defendants, it is understood here. This is in line with the frequently expressed determination of all four to fight the case in the courts to the last ditch.

Anderson's decision, which covered 85 pages and which exonerated the proponents of the "red" raids, was handed down when twenty persons arrested in one of those raids in January, 1920, were liberated on writs of habeas corpus.

At that time the government took

DID SNUBBING OF LINA CAVALIERI CAUSE MURATORE TO QUIT MARY'S COMPANY

Lucien Muratore, Mary Garden and Lina Cavalieri were friends when the feminine impresario greeted Muratore and Miss Cavalieri when Muratore arrived in San Francisco for the present season.

Did the snubbing of Lina Cavalieri, his wife, by Manager Mary Garden, cause Lucien Muratore, often called "Caruso's successor," to quit Mary's company in a huff the other day? Muratore explained his action by saying that Miss Garden changed her mind too often and her many moods worried him so that he could not sing his best.

an appeal in the cases of the Colyers, Mack and Bondar, announcing that it took this step because it considered the four persons mentioned the most intelligent and best educated of the twenty and accordingly the most dangerous.

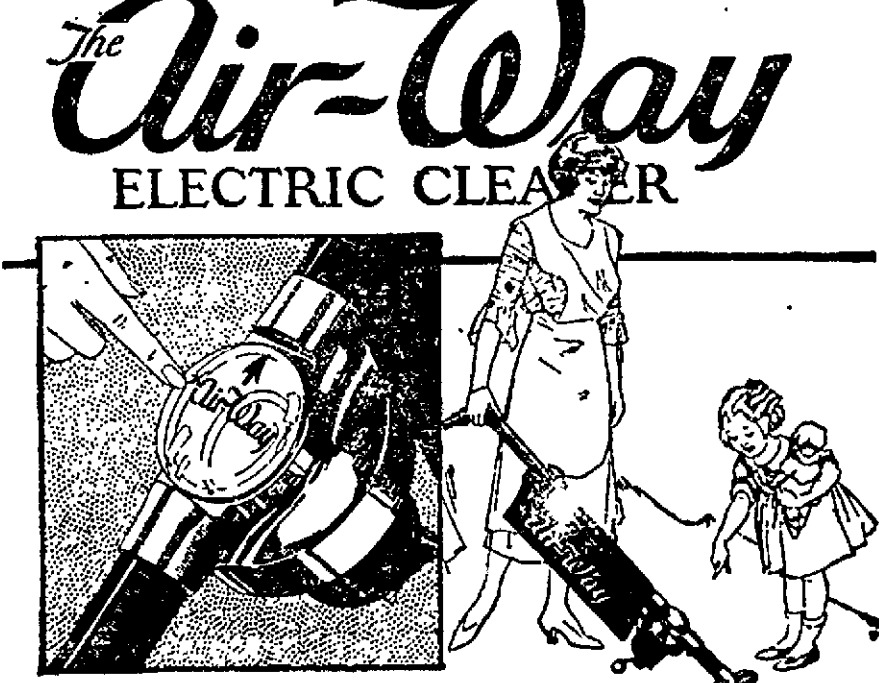

The four were permitted to be at liberty, however, on nominal bonds of $500 each, and these "dangerous" individuals have been allowed to go where they would, make speeches, hold meetings, and meet with whom they liked for a year and a half. This fact is cited by friends of the defendants as being curiously inconsistent with the government's alleged fear of the four.

Judges Bingham, Johnson and Brown collaborated in the present decision. "The District Court," their opinion states, "has ordered the relators" (Colyers, Mack and Bondar) "discharged on the grounds that there was no evidence before the immigration inspector to show that the Communist Party, to which the relators admitted they belonged, believes in, advocates or teaches the overthrow of the United States Government by force or violence, within a fair meaning of the words 'overthrow, force and violence.'"

HUMAN VULTURES HOVER NEAR THE AILING VETERANS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—Lives of America's crippled war veterans are constantly endangered by an army of "human vultures" hovering over hospital areas, it was learned officially today.

The situation has become so grave that government officials and members of congress now are planning means of exterminating this new menace to disabled war heroes. It was brot about, officials said, by bootleggers, drug purveyors, and other undesirable who flocked to hospital areas to ply their trades on pay days, just outside the government reservations.

The government at present is helpless to prevent the debauchery of its stricken wards. Civic authorities in many instances have vigorously fought these "pay snatchers." The principal complaint of officials was directed against prohibition authorities who failed to close avenues of poisonous liquors, now flooding practically every hospital area in the country.

The old army menace of "camp followers" it was stated had been changed to "hospital followers".

Congress will soon be asked to withhold part of the compensation given each hospitalized soldier to prevent his exploitation by the pay snatchers.

"The most demoralizing situation in the country's history has been brot about by the extravagant expenditure of government money by disabled veterans," said Congressman Madden, Illinois, in discussing the situation. "The government must control compensation paid to soldiers. So long as they are hospitalized it will end the menace."

"There is a greater governmental responsibility than caring for its wounded soldiers, and that is to prevent this curse from destroying them," said Congressman Madden.

"Exploitation of veterans in hospital areas can be controlled by the government. It is a serious problem especially involving bootleggers and easy women. Lives are being ruined and medical attention is being wasted by the work of these vicious forces."

"The problem concerning hospital followers is really a menace in small communities, while in the larger cities the bootlegging problem is even more serious."

FRAZEYSBURG ADDS ANOTHER VICTORY TO IMPOSING LIST

Adding another to their long string of victories, the Frazeysburg high school basketball team trounced the Granville high school basketballers at Frazeysburg Friday night by the score of 38 to 14.

Never, in any stage of last night's game, did the home team weaken or allow an opening for the visiting team to gain on them. Frazeysburg played the Granville quintet off its feet from start to finish.

On Friday night, January 27, the Frazeysburg team faces one of the hardest propositions of the season's schedule. This game is between the home team and Newark Ht. Newark has been the only team that has succeeded in winning from Frazeysburg this season. Frazeysburg has lost but one game. The score was 19 to 8.

ISLANDS THAT FIGURE IN THE NEW PACIFIC FORTIFICATIONS DISPUTE—

Figures indicate islands in which Japan is interested. Arrow points to Singapore.

Japan does not want to have the Bonin Islands included in the Pacific zone which is to be left unfortified under the conditions of the Far East agreement reached at Washington. Japanese delegates at the arms parity have asked Tokyo for orders on the matter. If the Japs are allowed to fortify the islands the Philippine Islands (1), under U. S. protectorate, would be menaced. America is willing to allow Japan the protection of fortification on Formosa (2). The U. S. will permit the present fortifications on the Kurile Islands (3) to remain. Fortifications on the Bonin Islands (4) would menace Guam, U. S. possession, (5). The Aleutian Islands are held by the U. S. American officials are willing to keep the Hawaiian Islands within the unfortified zone. Great Britain wants the privilege of fortifying Singapore as a naval base.
